

Identity Circle

Divide the circle into wedges, each representing a part of your identity. What is it that makes you who you are? How do you think of yourself? Important elements should have a bigger wedge of the circle than less important elements.

